Learning Circle: Incentives and Motivation

The main goal of any wellness program is to motivate people to change. Join us for a discussion about various ways to provide this motivation. Are monetary incentives really the best approach?

Mentoring Workshops:

Mentoring Workshops will give Well City Fox Cities member organizations the opportunity to work one-on-one or in a small group setting with representatives from the Wellness Council of Wisconsin and local employers who have already achieved Well Workplace designation. These mentors will provide tactical advice and support on various aspects of the Well Workplace process and application.
